Tradeable shares portfolio represents 48.6% of the total net assets at the end of June.

Fund holdings are recorded using the reference price of the shares traded on the last day of the month, and for the unlisted companies a fair value is used from a valuation report made by an ANEVAR certified external valuator.

At the end of June, the tradeable shares portfolio was composed of 94.6% cash, the rest being collective undertakings, 2.6%, and other shares, 2.9%. Other net assets category includes the dividends payable by the Fund from previous years and dividends to be received (in case of June).

The World Health Organization reported on July 1 the acceleration of coronavirus disease, with 60% of all cases worldwide being reported in June. In Europe, the next steps were taken to ease restrictions, with the economic re-opening narrative dominating fears of a second wave of the pandemic during the month.

Opinions supporting a L-shaped and recently a W-shaped economic recovery ground over initial predominant reactions to a V-shaped recovery, with stock markets still facing substantial downside risks. Given the high volatility of assets and the uncertainty about their duration, we chose to maintain higher liquidity while waiting for a more favorable context.

At the end of June, the Fund's trading portfolio is valued at about RON 28.11 million, down by 1.50% compared to the value reported at the end of May, reflecting the changes in the prices of the remaining companies in the portfolio.

4. Performance of the world stock exchanges

June was characterized by increases in financial markets

The developed financial markets rose in June by an average of 2.91%, the mature capital market indexes recording the following returns: the German DAX index 6.2%, the French CAC40 index 5.1%, the Polish WIG20 index 2.1%, the American index S&P500 1.8%, the British FTSE100 index 1.5%, and the Austrian ATX index 0.6%.

After a brutal sell-off earlier this year, share prices had risen globally over the past three months, helped by massive stimulus from countries around the world and hopes the worst of the pandemic was over. The need for further stimulus is likely, although EU leaders failed to agree on a €750 billion recovery fund in June, with further talks set for July.

Emerging and frontier stock exchanges increased by an average of 3.13% in June, with stocks exchanges in Turkey, India and China posting the largest increases of 10.4%, 7.7% and 4.6%, while stock exchanges in Romania and Hungary registered slightly negative returns of 0.5% and 0.2% respectively.
