The Fund's net assets did not change significantly in value last month. In October, the most important event was the share redemption announced by Fondul Proprietatea, which surprised positively by the redemption price and then, by supplementing the number of shares, so that the FP share rose by 16.6%. The financial reporting season, that might move the market, is concentrated throughout the month of November.

The Cash position rose as a result of selling off H2O, position that we held only for speculative reasons.

An additional factor that calls for prudence is the sustained growth of the BVB from July to September, probably as a result of H2O offer and the money raised from the market, a divergent trend versus the major international markets.
